IMPACT STATEMENT IN RESPONSE TO COVID.

During these unprecedented times, our community and the people we serve faced new challenges. Though we were not able to serve our community in the same capacity, we were able to refocus our efforts to meet the new emerging needs of our community.

The Y provided emergency childcare for 171 children of health care workers and essential personnel.

The Y launched virtual resources and group exercise classes to continue to support members, no matter where they were.

The Y released a mobile app to provide motivation and support to 1,114 members to keep them engaged and active.

The Y provided 6,618 meals to children without access to school meals.

The Y provides distance learning to more than 335 children who are attending school virtually. This program continues to grow and evolve to meet the educational needs of children.

The Y is not new to responding to community needs, it’s who we are and what we do. We thank you for your continued support so we can continue to strengthen our community.
